Dear Mr. Zanker,

We write regarding the “Crypto & Business Conference” currently being “organiz[ed]” by Fight Fight Fight LLC.¹ The conference, advertised for April 25, 2026, at Mar-a-Lago, promises access to President Trump and appears designed to boost his personal meme coin, $TRUMP, amidst reports that the coin has lost retail investors billions of dollars.² To help us better understand the President’s role in planning, promoting, and profiting off of the conference, we request documents, communications, and related information from Fight Fight Fight LLC.

On March 12, 2026, “the memecoin’s official website and its social media account... began promoting the event” to the public.³ Attendance at the Conference at Mar-a-Lago is limited to “the Top 297 $Trump Qualifying Participants” and offers special access to “YOUR FAVORITE PRESIDENT” for “the top 29 qualifying VIPs.”⁴ The event includes “a GALA LUNCHEON with Keynote Speaker President Donald J. Trump.”⁵ “Qualifying Participants” are determined based on their ranking on the meme coin’s “leaderboard” and users “TRUMP Reward Points.”⁶ VIP eligibility, meanwhile, is “locked in based on your time-weighted $TRUMP holdings” from April 10, 2026, through April 26, 2026: “if your $TRUMP balance stays at or above your Snapshot Day [April 10, 2026] level... you keep ALL VIP bonuses”; if not, “you may still attend the Conference & Gala Luncheon, but VIP bonuses might be forfeited.”⁷ VIP Participants also are promised access to “Superstar guests,” a “Special VIP Talk on Mar-a-Lago’s History. Very, Very Special,” and “Upfront VIP Seating.”⁸

The announcement of the Conference “set off a quick but brief run-up in the price of the $TRUMP meme coin, which reached $3.08 before tumbling back down.”⁹ President Trump financially benefits from the market value and activity of the $TRUMP cryptocurrency.¹⁰ Specifically, “CIC Digital LLC, an affiliate of The Trump Organization, and Fight Fight Fight LLC collectively own 80% of the Trump Cards”; in turn “CIC Digital LLC and Celebration Cards LLC, the owner of Fight Fight Fight LLC, will receive trading revenue derived from trading activities of Trump Meme Cards.”¹¹ Notably, not all $TRUMP holders have benefited from their investment: according to recent reports, $TRUMP – and the First Lady’s meme coin, $MELANIA – “erased an estimated $4.3 billion in retail wealth” in recent months, with “roughly 2 million holders currently underwater” (insiders, however, reportedly made a fortune: forty-five “early-deployment wallets” earned $1.2 billion off the meme coins—meaning that “for every dollar insiders earned, retail investors lost $20”).¹²

Despite Fight Fight Fight LLC’s promotion of the event as a way for $TRUMP investors to access the President, it remains unclear whether or not President Trump will actually be able to attend. According to White House officials, “the event is not locked in on Trump’s schedule,” as it occurs on the same day as the White House Correspondent’s Dinner – which the President is slated to attend in Washington, D.C.¹³ Meanwhile, the event’s fine print makes clear that the President’s involvement is not guaranteed. Specifically, “President Trump may not be able to attend the 2026 Event, and the 2026 Event may be cancelled for any reason.”¹⁴ Should President Trump be “unable to attend the 2026 Event,” the event “may be rescheduled” at the “sole discretion” of event organizers – or, “persons who are qualified for the 2026 Event will receive a limited edition TRUMP NFT in lieu thereof.”¹⁵ In other words, event organizers are promoting a conference by dangling access to President Trump to potential attendees (and in doing so, are encouraging purchases of his meme coin that will generate transaction fees for the President and his family) on a day he may not actually be able to attend.

We have previously raised concerns with President Trump’s willingness to use the presidency for personal profit – including a similar dinner President Trump promoted for meme coin holders
