Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I just want to say that Mr. Jefferson does meet the litmus test of being a bipartisan – having bipartisan support. And frankly, I think he has an objective approach to serving on the Fed. I wish the other two [nominees] had the same approach as Mr. Jefferson does. They lack that approach to reinforcing the greatness of our nation as it relates to economic policy, and that is unfortunate. But in the end, we look forward to getting this over with.
